GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Over a ten-week period I completed a Back-End Web Development course. The class was held in Washington, DC and was taught by professionals from Vox Media and Wedding Wire. I am proficient with Ruby on Rails and am comfortable with test driven development. I am also one of the founding members of GA's first Ruby after course meet up. I have gathered experience working with various database systems. Finally, I am eager to continue to learn more and improve my skills.

VANCE & ENGLES AIRCRAFT BROKERS

I have been a member of the brokerage team for over two years. Between those two years I have contributed from start to finish to seven aircraft transactions. In between periods of transactions I collected over 30,000 aviation email addresses. That has enabled our team to advertise our inventory at lower cost with more control over our public image. Vance & Engles has given me the skills to effectively manage large-scale projects as well make valuable industry connections.

YOU TIME SOLUTIONS

During my senior year at High Point University I interned with the young startup; YouTime Solutions. I learned some of the trial and tribulations of running a small business. The CEO Paula McGarrell taught me the importance of a strong work ethic as well as important bootstrapping techniques. During my internship I became comfortable with programs such as Photoshop, Mailchimp, Trello & Google Drive. I thoroughly enjoyed working in such a team spirited atmosphere.

KELLER WILLIAMS REALTY

After my sophomore year of college I moved to Austin, TX for the summer. While there I formed a relationship with a realtor who hired me to help gather and organize potential clients. He also gave me my first web development project as I created his professional website. The website did not only advertise himself but also the homes he was representing at the time.
